"...Men are so simple, and so subject to present necessities, that he who seeks to deceive will always find someone who will allow himself to be deceived."

Machiavelli

The Prince is a postal diplomacy zine published every three weeks by Jim Meinel, 628 Whitworth Lane So. Renton, Washington 98055. Phone (206)228-7802. Subs are available for practically dirt, 10 issues for $2.50 but that will be changing very shortly. There are presently no game openings available.

The deadline for Spring 1901 orders is Thursday May 19, 1983 8:00 PM PDT. Make a habit of getting a set of preliminary orders on file early. It would be especially wise to do it for Spring 1901 as an NMR now will get you dropped from the game and a new player found to take your place. And, in a lighter vein, we have a bit of pre-1901 press:

Press:

Germany-Europe: I hope you all turn out to be good correspondants. I promise to match you letter for letter and then some. So write!

Mike to Kathy: Gee, you want me to resign? You're such a good Diplomacy player, I guess that's what I should do. You think I should, and you know everything. But wait...if you know everything then you would know that ordering me to resign would just make me mad enough to stay in the game and fight you... so if you know that, then you must not really want me to resign the game, because if you did, you would write me a nice friendly letter explaining why my amateur, schizophrenic playing style was spoiling the game for a professional Dip player like yourself, and you would try to convince me that resigning would be the best thing for all concerned... instead, you intentionally antagonized me with your press, knowing that it would make me stay in the game...so that must mean that you really don't want me to leave. Thanks, Kathy!

Ita-Fra: I am confused by this personal grudge you seem to have against me. What did I ever do to you, to deserve this treatment in every game we're in!

SealthCon was a success and a helluvalot of fun. Tallman, myself, Cathy Cuning, Stephen Lee, Paul Gardner and a friend of Paul's, Lynn, were in attendance. Terry, Cathy & I played a pickup game while we were waiting for more to show up with each of us getting two powers. Cathy & I were kicking the shit out of Tallman when the rest of the people showed up. We only had six but we played with a Madman Italy. I drew France & was doing great until Steve had to leave as England and Terry took his place and promptly stabbed me. He was getting the stuffs knocked out of him as Russia so I guess he had to vent his frustrations out on someone. Game finally ended in a five-way which was more due to exhaustion and concerns about driving home so late. (Stephen had to go home to "feed the animals") I'd love to do it again sometime and get at least seven next time with everyone showing up at an early hour so we could play a couple games. Other game reports appear in North Seath West George and Retaliation.

Rom-Vie: These moves are the direct result of a lack of communication on your part.

Tur-Ita: After seeing my press to you in print, I see now that its tone was harsher than I had intended. Sorry about that.

Ber-Russia: I have written a letter to send you in reply to your incredibly unsportsmanlike and immature builds, but I do not think you will listen. I hope you stay in character and stab the Austrian in 03. That will be 3 for 3 in 3 years.

Ber-Tur: It's usefulness has expired.

Lon-GM: Well, a 3-on-1 squeeze is not easy to beat...

Rom-Ber: How's that for being neutral.

Dateline Berlin: Several BSU groups are now calling for the resignation of Minister Kirk following his obvious blunder concerning the swamp gas. He has refused to resign, citing the present war as the most important issue. He continued by pointing out the recently decoded Russian signals and the obvious threat presented by the buildup of troops in Warsaw. In a recent speech he was heard to state: "When daily radio transmissions are intercepted revealing plans of aggression against Germany, just how important can lengthy discussions of some cajuns feet be?"

Lon-Ber,Mos,Par: I'm down but not out, yet. A 3-way alliance is very hard to keep going. You don't know who to trust and who's aiming a dagger at your back...

Ber-Par: Is this ostrich egg that you sent me supposed to be a hint?

Ber-Rus: How am I supposed to get an English army in Norway? And since when is Russia a "central" power? By the way, you are perfectly welcome to Iceland. The North Pole too! Iran is all yours - gratis! Really! I mean it!

Tur-Rus: Come off it, Brian. Just who do you think you're fooling, anyhow?

Rom-Ank: Keep building armies and we won't have any problems.

Ber-Atreides Germany: Stop with the jokes already! You're giving Germanys the hobby over a bad name!

Ber-Machiavelli France: Ho Evan s! Welcome to The Prince! It's a good zine. Enjoy the game.

Fra-Rus: When do you get the dreaded butterbar?

Par: It's finally arrived ((the press??)) -- a letter from the Sultan! Quick, call the President. Call a press conference. Call Ripley's Believe It Or Not. Wait a sec... oh, it's for another game.

Par-Ber: The SEC, as everyone knows, is THE football power in the NCAA. The Southwest Conference is where we get our patsy opponents from for the Homecoming games. Did you notice how fast Baylor worked to find themselves another game once they learned that they might have to play the Tigers this fall? ((The who?))

Some of you may not have noticed but my goal for turnaround time with the zine is next day service. I don't know how long I can keep it up with the added games but I'm certainly going to give it my best. A couple of people have called the next day or two after the deadline thinking that I hadn't mailed out the issue yet. If you want to catch me, for some reason, before it's mailed out it will have to be that Thursday night. Friday morning finds me at the printer and the zine is usually in the mail by noon.

Don't forget those write-in votes!

HUMBOLDT

IIII

This issue is put out by Eugene McCarthy at 1603 G Str. in Arcata, Calif. 95521. Come visit this beautiful state and watch it slide into the ocean. See soenic rivers reclaim their floodplains and make the Central Valley into the world's largest rice field. Should make for great rowing, too..

Tongue-in-chssk Dept: It seems I went a bit too far on my parody of gamestarts in the first issue. Most of you saw it for what it was, but a couple of publishers (Hi Rod) took it for a real, though off beat, announcement. Sorry fellas, but I have no desire to GM. Meinel may enjoy it, but I gst my kicks out of writing non-game stuff. Just the thought of having to type orders like F Aeg-BUL(sc) sup A Gre for seven countries, makes me vomit. Besidss, the rule book is not my best friend, and I have a soft heart (Heck, hs's only 2 days late, no country, no date, no signature. Sure, I'll accept it.). I have nothing but admiration for GM's for having to put up with all that junk.

FEUD?

Well, let's call it a disagreement. Jim left Humboldt and a few other zines off last issues Runestone Poll ballot, because they were "too new" and to "preservs our rookie status" for next year's Freshman Poll. Such reasoning does not hold water. The Freshman Poll will not check on a zine's virginity to see if it qualifies. So if a new zine or subzine appears in the R.P. it won't (or shouldn't) be disqualified from next year's F.P. And I can see this occurring often since the R.P. is held in the middle of the year. Who else was left off? Midlife Crises by Paul Rauterberg, and Thirty Milss of Bad Road by Mark Luedi. TMOBR is a special case. It has three issues as a subzine and thrse as a zins. But I think it'll be this year's Jessica Lange, cleaning up the sub catagory. MC will have at least five issues out by July 1. So if you feel like you've seen enough issuss of the above zines, give them a vote. You are ths judge.

Now wait a minute, I'm an editor, and as an editor, I'm not suppose to care about how you people rate ms. So let's go on to something I do care about; sports.

IMSORRYJOHNBUTTHATSASCLOSEASICANGETTOBEINGCONTROVERSIALNOJOHNPUTTHATGUNDOWN

SPORTS

In the last few years, religion has entered the sports world in the form of prayer msetings before gametime. Many players find inspiration and comfort in these meetings; it gives them a chance to put their lives into the propr perspective. However, there are some rsligious lsaders who feel the players can relate to salvation only in terms of thsir respsctive sport. And unfortunately one such minister is scheduled to say the opening prayer at this year's Dip Con in Detroit. You'll find his txt on ths back page.

I found thess notes on the blsachers, an hour after he exhorted a local track team to run and jump for God. His other great lines were, "let Christ bs your starting block," and "think of the Holy Spirit as a baton that you keep passing on." The team lost, but they looked inspirsd.

Bow down your heads and ask for His blessing. For these few minutes, let us remember why we are on earth. Let us be thankful that he accepted our game fee and allowed us to play life's game. If you were to perish tomorrow and had to write down your life's orders, how will He decide? Did you work with others to gain centers or did you stab your friends to move ahead? Is it not said, "Woe to the man who gainth the eighteenth center but deceiveth his allies"? Also, "Blessed is he who draws, for he shall share Calhamer points."

He has made Himself available to us, so let yourself be conveyed to the Big Board. Don't miss the boat, but be sure to have your friends support. You don't want the Devil to break that convoy.

Evil will make you irregular, and "Woe is the man who leads an irregular life, for his soul shall be cast into limbo." Do not be the Devil's tool, for it is written, "He who toadys for the Devil shall be annihilated."

Remember, of course, that He is a loving GM. It does not matter to Him if you separate seasons of life prophetically. He loves us all and judges everyones moves exactly the same. Do not fear conquest, for He is always with you.

Now go forth and play with His support. Amen

FUN WITH SCIENCE

Now let's hear it for that astounding, fantastic, and amazing piece of American science - Skylab. (hooray). Again (Hooray). Much better. Since the breakthrough of this astounding, fantastic, and amazing form of space travel several years ago, Skylab has progressed by a series of leaps and bounds. Which is one reason why it went out of orbit and fell back to earth. To make a simple analogy, if you throw a stone into a bucket of water, the ripples will spread outward. And if you throw Skylab into a bucket of water, the ripples will also spread outward. So astounding, fantastic, and amazing American science has been trying to make a Skylab small enough to throw into a bucket of water. More on this thrilling subject later on.

excerpt from a Luedi letter:

"Hey, I love canoeing! I used to play softball as a relief pitcher with a reasonably low ERA. Other than that I guess I'm just the vegetable that everybody thinks I am. When was the last time you saw peppers playing volleyball, or a tomatoe playing two sets of tennis?"

((Can't say that I have Mark, but I did play squash once when I was in a pickled state. Could it be because no one would pay vegetables a decent celery? Hmmm...lettuce get away from these corny puns.))

Anybody else ((he says in his normal voice)) care to reveal their favorite recreational sports? If you don't I'll be forced to make things up about all of you (I have a subbers list). And you don't want to be embarrassed in front of your allies, do you? Of course not. So send along a postcard detailing your favorite physical hobby. And do try to keep it clean.

Tyrolia(London AP) Despite being stunned by the Italian forces crossing the border from Piedmont, the people of Tyrolia chose not to resist. With German and Austrian armies moving against the Eastern powers, public opinion is in favor of temporarily surrendering to Italian control. However, it has been made clear that unnecessary advances into Germany or Austria will cause a loss of trust of the Italian military and result in organization of our underground.

GM: Remember friends, this is a non-black press game. Dateline must be from one of your own provinces or captured centers or an unoccupied neutral province at the beginning of the turn.

Par-Rom: What makes you think you are safe hiding in Tyrolia?

Par-Switz: Yer nutz! Ita-Tyr: You are mine and don't you forget it!

Par-Ber: Congratulations! Either you've been getting a great job from your intelligence network or somebody who should have known better blew it.

Vie-Mos: That was a brilliant decision to trust Germany after his opening to Silesia and Denmark. Pro-Russian orders if I've ever seen them. No doubt it was the same sort of logic which led you to stab me. No Czar in his right mind would tolerate such blatant acts of aggression as my move to Budapest. Let's see how long your Turkish ally ignores an easy build from Sevastopol.

Switz: After that move, Tsar Blumonov, you deserve what you are going to get.

Ita-Rus: You my friend are a fool who is going to die. Why hold when Austria would have eliminated Turkey? Goodbye..

Par-StP: Turn to your rulebook, under Beleagured Garrison...

Par-Vie: I don't believe you did that! Or did the Sultan himself promise you Bulgaria?

Par-B.E.F.,Norway: Hope you brought your skis, makes light work out of crossing the Russian border

Par-European Heads of State: We are appalled at the lying and deceiving that seems to be going on so early in this game and for what? ELAN, my fellow statesmen and a clean game. That's what it's all about.

Switz: That move was pathetic!

Ita-Tur: Why? This dance was taken already.

Par-Istanbul: It must be nice to have a whole corner all to yourself.

Press:

Eng-Eur: Jeez, you guys. No press at all last turn? I'm really ashamed. Looks like its going to take a little prompting to get this group going. Of all the games I've ever been in this one has the least communication so far. So let's see if I can get the ball rolling.

North Africa-Tunis: What happened to our Gibraltar pact, Jack? I went to NAF only after you NMR'd and the standby wouldn't answer my letter. Whatsamatter, your pen broke?

Lon-Bud: Well, you're a fine ally. G/E goes out of it's way to help you against your Turkish arch-enemy and what do you do? You turn around and ally with the creep. Are you giving him your centers now? How about dropping me a line before he stabs you to death. Maybe we can still work something out.

Mos-Sev: I guess you're still pissed about that stab in Scandanavia, huh? No sense sitting back and waiting for annihilation. Maybe we can still work something out. I guess you're grateful to T for keeping you alive but there's no sense in carrying loyalty too far. I can see my way to A UKr Supports A Sev-Rum next turn. If he's really your friend he should let you have it since it used to be yours anyway.

English Channel-Portugal: That was a pretty nasty trick you pulled, you Johnny-come-lately. Troublemaker, proposing an E win to upset my ally and turn him against me. Did you vote yes? Sure. I didn't but I sure hope E/G passes.

North Sea-Helgoland: What gives here? Don't you think you should get this fleet movement OK'd in advance? You wouldn't be getting ready for a move over Belgium would you? I've always suspected you to be a stabber. (Hey! Just kidding, good buddy.)

Eng-Eur: That just about wraps it up, fellas. Hope I haven't offended anyone too much (or too little). Don't bitch now cuz I haven't written. This is it. Not much but at least it's more than you are offering.

Press:

Por-Rom: The word in Lisbon is that the portugese pope is working behind the scenes to pollute the negotiating enviroment enough to to drive the already unstable and giggly Vittorio into a new vesuvian gushing of mind.

Mos-All: Radio Moscow reports that hostilities started between that country and Portugal. When asked the Russian ambassador replied, "Yes, my country and it's leaders believe in setting ambitious goals". It is yet to be seen how successful this campaign will be.

Spa-Par: Our recent expulsions of the Russian so-called "diplomats" should awake the truly "great" powers into what a lying and deceitful Tsar is really after - the big stab.

Swiss-Rom: Italians, their incondite ruler, and the paper pope will flee upon the arrival of Yogananda, daring to laugh with God, to bridge east and west.

Ita-Fra: Will we fight?! Later is better than sooner, since we already have one fight - let's keep it down to that.

Fra-Ger: Are you pretending your city is gone?

Eng-Ger: Thanks for inviting me to the party, but in our kingdom we heed the lessons of history.

Ita-Ger: Never fear for "Free" is here! Also we send an envoy of your very own!

Swe-Nwy: The English are coming! The English are coming! God save Prince William.

Rum-Par: The lack of headway in the Ger-Eng negotiations has dashed hopes here that the Bear can be stopped. Oski sucks?

Ita-Aus: I normally never attack you in '01 - but this isn't a normal game. Besides what's good about Rochester anyway?!

Ser-Vie: The german-speaking blitz: "budda-man" Code L-6 is uptown?

Arm-Ita: Remember Armenia? Your humble gadflys beseech you to Lepanto and squish the sultan pig-face.
Fra-World: The President of France announces the formation of the First French Mercenary Corps; to be deployed (hopefully) in the Winter of 1901. All interested parties are invited to submit bids. The Corps will arrive in the home centers of the low bidder by the Fall of 1902.

Tun-Eur: The Pharoah is back; beware of the Ancient Astronauts.

Swiss-Eng: Thanks for the centerfold-reverse the orders, though.

Fra-Eng: Anybody who would call us two peas in a pod hasn't seen my wife. Or maybe he has.

Alb-Tur: Beta - 5.

Ser-Eng: Moniti meliora sequamur (Love is a green world).

Ita-Tur: When you told me about moving to Con instead of Armenia, it was all over - hope we triple crossed each other! I know we will have a good fight. Of course, you may want support into Greece. So write soon. Ta-ta!

Syr-Vie: The Israelis reminded us again: inside everybody, there's some bad and there's some good. Up with people! Remember the fate of the Aus-Ger alliance in WWII.

Ita-Fra: I hope you kept your promise and stayed out of Piedmont.

Lon-Mos: Will bring my winter clothes for the rendezvous in '02; Zut!

Baltic-Mos: One move into the land of Bismarck and you'll soon be rolling, singing and soaring down the hallway to the infinite.

Gemini 4 - Earth: Somehow we have got to make this world a better place. Maybe we'll find some of the answers in outer space. Answers to problems like crime, overpopulation and maybe even the answer to war. Yea, on my little walk above the Earth you can see problems in what I guess you might call a better perspective. The Earth looks so beautiful from 150 miles high. Maybe we can make it that way by giving all the diplomats that new perspective from outer space. We can give our young people a new frontier, a new world, maybe many new worlds. Yes it's going to be exciting this adventure in space and full of a lot of wonderful things, things we haven't even dreamed about yet - Col. Ed White III's remarks at his last press conference.

Earth-Gemini 4: Uh, you can come on home now...

Fleet in the Ionian to fleet in the North Atlantic: Ship-to-ship communications nearly impossible with so many oceans between us. Love to not hear it.

Paris: Hordes of galavanting ants have trampled thru the streets scaring the peasantry. Extermination efforts have proven futile. Reserve troops have been called on to digest the problem, but many of the troops find the ants distasteful and are demanding flies be served as a side dish. Moral: You can tell a frog by its menu choices.

Vatican City-StP: The Pontiff regrets that prior Vatican press releases issued by the heretical Monsignor Seallopini were not first cleared by Himself. The Monsignor has been decommissioned, excommunicated and now qualifies for a position as a castrati. Italo-Russian relations in the future will be handled directly by the Holy Father.

Switz-poor geographer: Texas is not on the "west coast". We are on the third coast.

Par-World: Why do I feel like I just fell into quicksand after diving without a parachute from 2,000 feet?

I have written up explanations and clarifications to my houserules, number by number. They mostly explain why I chose what I chose. Very boring to older hobby members, people who may be interested in GM'ing someday might like to see it. Also, a good way to pick a fight with me if you have a mind to. Available at cost (40¢ or two stamps). Five pages single spaced of hot air. Good bedside reading in place of the Sleep-eez.
